Prevalence of Substance Use in Missouri

General Population: Approximately 419,000 Missourians struggle with a substance use disorder. Of these, 17,000 are between the ages of 12 and 17 (SAMHSA, 2015).

Community-Supervised Offender Population: In Missouri, approximately 13,082 parolees and 28,700 probationers need substance use disorder treatment (Missouri Department of Corrections, 2015).

Veterans Population: Of the approximately 494,300 Missouri Veterans, an estimated 6.2 percent or 30,600 have a substance use disorder (Missouri Department of Public Safety, 2016; SAMHSA, 2015b).

Pregnant Women: Of the approximately 83,600 pregnancies in the state, about 8,400 are women who are struggling with an alcohol or drug problem (Missouri Department of Health & Senior Services, 2014; SAMHSA, 2015b).

Community-Based Treatment is Less Expense than Incarceration

In Missouri, the average prison stay for an offender with a drug-related offense is 318 days at an average cost of $57.25 per day – yielding an average cost per stay of $18,206.

The average length of engagement in community-based treatment is 79 days with an average cost of $2,082.

Intervention fees collected from offenders help pay a portion of the cost for community corrections and intervention services for offenders under community supervision.

Treatment Recidivism

While relapse is a common characteristic of the addiction process, most DMH consumers do not cycle in and out of substance use disorder treatment.

We have been saving lives and helping people achieve positive change for more than thirty years. With the assistance of public funding, services are available to persons in need on a sliding scale fee basis.

Welcome

To Our Valued Stakeholders,

One thing we know for sure is that time is constantly moving. Based on this certainty, it is essential to continue to grow and strengthen our collective efforts to meet the changing needs of those we serve and keep in step with the constant progression of time.

At Heartland Center for Behavioral Change, this has been a year of change and growth; highlighted by new executive leadership, improved processes and efficiencies, and a specialized workforce “Growing Together”. This report highlights the profile of our organization and will serve as a point in time when we identified our strengths and needs to move forward and ensure we are “Growing Together”.

In this time, rarely a day goes by that we don’t read a newspaper story or see a public report about the increase in opiate use that is taking a toll on families across the nation. Some national reports say our Midwest communities are experiencing the worst opiate “epidemic”, “crisis”, “problem” in the country. No one at Heartland would dispute this claim, because we are faced with the eye of this storm of devastation every day in the work we do. It significantly affects the individuals and families we serve, but we are filled with hope as we walk through our treatment centers and see consumers of varying backgrounds earnestly engaged in counseling sessions and other behavioral health programming.

The formula for help at Heartland consists of embracing the whole person; offering treatment for substance use disorders, and community reentry services developed to build self-reliance and growth, supported by the best of science and medicine. We embrace the use of evidence-based practices and medication assisted treatment as tools in our therapeutic regime, and hire the most qualified and compassionate people we can find for every position. We will continue to put forth this effort to ensure that we are “Growing Together” in this work, in this community, and in this time.

We thank you for your partnership,

How We Serve

CSTAR Outpatient Substance Abuse Treatment

Our consumer-centered services help each person get the individualized care they need to become free of alcohol and drugs. Our Comprehensive Substance Abuse Treatment and Rehabilitation (CSTAR) programs range in intensity based on the unique needs of each person and include a combination of individual counseling, group counseling, group education, and community support. Medication assistance is also available to support therapy.

Disease Management Services

Our disease management services help persons in the community who have substance use problems and serious, chronic health problems. Our outreach workers offer help in coordinating healthcare, reducing life stressors, and management of each person’s medical, psychiatric, and substance use conditions. We emphasize community support/case management services and help each participant with substance use problems by making our Comprehensive Substance Treatment and Rehabilitation (CSTAR) programs available.

Substance Abuse Traffic Offender Program

We serve people who are referred to SATOP as a result of an administrative suspension or revocation of their driver’s license, court order, condition of probation and parole or plea bargain due to an alcohol-related offense.

Residential Reentry Center (RRC)

Heartland Center helps offenders under the custody of the Bureau of Prisons (BOP) or U.S. District Court transition back to their communities. We offer a structured, residential, supervised environment for inmates nearing release.

Drug Court Treatment

Our drug court programs provide an effective option to the courts to address the needs of people who have come under criminal justice supervision due to substance abuse problems. We provide intensive substance abuse treatment for those who are referred by the court for services as a result of drug-related crimes.

Community Transitions Unit (CTU)

Offenders under the supervision of the Missouri Department of Corrections are helped in their transition back to the community. This 24-hour residential program offers specialized assistance to help each person obtain employment, housing, treatment, and other services necessary for a successful return to the community.

Medication-Assisted Treatment (MAT)

We use medications, in combination with counseling and behavioral therapies, to provide a whole-patient approach to the treatment of substance use disorders. Research shows that when treating substance-use disorders, a combination of medication and behavioral therapies is most successful.

Medically-Monitored Inpatient Detoxification (MMID)

We provide a 24-hour medically-monitored inpatient detoxification program for persons experiencing acute withdrawal from alcohol and/or other drugs. We offer medication to ease the discomfort of withdrawal and medical monitoring to ensure patient safety. Our program is under the direction of an experienced physician who is assisted by advanced practice nurses and a 24-hour team of licensed nursing staff. A substance abuse counselor helps each person link to the care they need after the withdrawal process is completed.
